

Yes we are a beautiful people with a rich and vibrant heritage. They underestimated our perseverance and powerful determination, especially our strong African American women. We knew that one day we would be liberated from bondage and our voices be heard so that the future generations will never forget the important roles each of these women played. Their spirits are still very much alive and if you listen close you can still hear them. Listen, Listen, Listen.....

TONI MALONE
Presents:
VOICES OF THE PAST

You may have seen her most recently as "Queenie" at Disneyland in Anaheim, CA. or joined her on a musical love journey in her one woman play "It's All About Love. With a unique and creative style of her own, Broadway stage veteran Toni Malone combines entertainment and education together on a journey into the past with her portraying Harriett Tubman, Coretta Scott King as well as other notable women in US History. Using her truly special gifts of song and amazing storytelling ability Toni delights her audiences leaving each heart touched and uplifted. She has performed for a multitude of organizations, churches and conferences large and small most notable for Senator Diane Watson's tribute to Black History.

So many times we forget the strength and beauty that God has given each and everyone of us, Toni would like to share her talents with you and your organization.
